START AT ELDORADO

Transmission Line Will Be 100 Miles Long and
of Three Wires Each

Special to The World.

WICHITA, Kan., July 15.—Actual construction work has begun by the Kansas Gas & Electric Co. on what is said to be the most expensive electric transmission line ever constructed in Kansas.

The cost is estimated at $2,000,000. The line will extend from Eldorado to some point in southeastern Kansas not yet decided upon.

L. O. Ripley, vice president and chief executive of the company, said today the opening of the line into southeastern Kansas was the first step in extending electrical service which eventually involves the expenditure of several million dollars.

The transmission line will be used for the interchange of power between the central and southeastern Kansas systems. Wichita is now the location of the company's largest generating plant.

E. C. Corliss, head of the engineering department of the company, is making a preliminary study of several possible routes by airplane flying over a deal of the territory. He will spend several days investigating possible routes.

The line, according to plans made public today, will be more than one hundred miles in length. It will consist of two circuits of three wires each and of aluminum wire erected on steel towers about 500 feet apart. A maximum voltage of 110,000 will be carried. Some of the material has already been received and the rest is expected shortly.
